FREES HIS CHAUFFEUR

WHISPER BY MALONE

With Magistrate. Collector of the Port Dudley Field alone was entertaining Count Karolyl, leader of the Hungarian Independents, and several noted foreigners on the roof of the New Amsterdam Theatre last night when Policeman Zorn arrested Rene Borsch, the Collector's chauffeur, who was on his way to the theatre for Mr. Malone and his guests, for violating a traffic rule. He says Borsch made an improper turn and then threatened, as proper turn and then threatened, as Mr. Malone's chauffeur, to have Zorn to California and back by special traffic.

proper turn and then threatened, as Mr. Malone's chauffeur, to have Zorn "broke" for daring to arrest him.

When Mr. Malone was told over the telephone that Borsch had been arrested he went to the West Thirtieth street station and asked Lieut. Frye, who had forwarded the chauffeur to the Night Court, why he had seen in such a hurry. Frye said he hadn't been in any great hurry and insisted that Borsch had used abusive language to the policeman.

Forthwith, Mr. Malone went to the Night Court and held a whispered conversation in Magistrate Levy. After that the Magistrate was convinced that Borsch was an estimable chauffeur and discharged him.

NOTES OF THE THEATRES.

Helen Lowell has been engaged by the Messrs. Shubert to play an important role in a new farce which they are to produce early in August. This will be her first appearance until the Magistrate Levy. The Academy of Music Stock Company was launched by William Fox on Monday, Aug. 31, 1910, since which time 186 productions have been made and 2,400 performances given. It has been the custom to put on each play
